

Niklas Luhmann

- A German sociologist heavily influenced by systems theory, imported from the natural sciences (e.g., Biology, Ecology, Climate Science, Physics).
- The study of the emergent properties and structures of any system (e.g., biological, computational, organizational, social)
- Any system is less complex than the environment.

AUTOPOIETIC SYSTEMS

