

Traditional Society

- Non-rational authority often based on habits, emotions, sanctity of tradition (e.g., Divine Right, etc.).

Ideal Types of Authority

Traditional Society

- Non-rational authority often based on habits, emotions, sanctity of tradition (e.g., Divine Right, etc.).

Modern Society

- Rational, legal authority based on impersonal, rationally established rules and laws.
- For example, bureaucracy is a formal, impersonal form or organization.
- A rational, efficient way of accomplishing tasks in a modern, complex society.

AFTER TODAY, YOU SHOULD BE ABLE TO EXPLAIN:

