

Simmel

Simmel

Simmel

Simmel

kind of grouping

primarily to one

Affiliations

- Simmel hierarchizes the groups to which individuals belong.
- From birth and marital families to occupational groups and larger professional associations, to social clubs.
- He contrasts this to the medieval period, in which individuals tended to belong primarily to one kind of grouping (i.e., city, guild, monastery).

Affiliations

