

KANT AND THE ENLIGHTENMENT

- Freedom is to “make public use of [your] reason in all matters.”
- Kant believes that future generations have the ability — and even the responsibility — to reject past mandates and doctrines as unenlightened.

Non est potestas Super Terram quare Comparetur ei Iob. 41. 24.

HOBBES AND ROSSEAU

