NETDOMS

- Identities build ties to other identities across multiple network-domains, called netdoms.
- Netdoms refers both to the networks created by various relationships and the domains in which they occur.
- Netdom is an experience or a process rather than a unified entity.
- White explains that networks are “overview reports from the dynamics of overlapping of...netdoms.”
- Networks have flexible sets of stories upon which to draw in creating identities.
