

George Herbert MEAD

A faded, grayscale portrait of George Herbert Mead serves as the background for the slide. He is shown from the chest up, wearing a suit and tie, with his hands slightly raised in a gesturing motion.

- Herbert Mead (b. 1863 - 1931), one of the founders of social psychology.
- Studied at Oberlin and Harvard for his Ph.D. in psychology, but quit before finishing.
- Taught at the University of Chicago for most of his career.

George Herbert MEAD

- Mead's attempt to understand individual social experiences in relation to society in his book "Mind, Self, and Society."
- Argued that there can be no self, no consciousness of self, and no communication apart from society.
