

CIVILIZING

- What used to happen between people is now taking place within a person
- super-ego and ego

THE CIVILIZING PROCESS

- What used to happen between people is now taking place within a person, with the super-ego and ego in conflict as man used to be in conflict with man.
- Self-discipline can make it impossible for an individual to find healthy channels for this aggression.
- That's when fetishes and more serious perversions can arise which hinder socialization; the behavior of psychopathic killers would be an example here.

Linguistic Structuralism and Ludwig Wittengstein