

- internal models

external ones: imitated

- consider envy of higher socioeconomic strata:
before

DIFFUSION AND SOCIAL CLASS

- First, we imitate internal models before we do external ones: Ideas are imitated before their manifestations, and ends are imitated before means.
- For example, consider envy of higher socioeconomic strata: You need to accept the validity of class behaviors and limitations before you can envy those who practice those behaviors deemed superior.

DIFFUSION AND SOCIAL CLASS

