HETEROGENEITY, INEQUALITY, AND INTERSECTIONALITY

- Heterogeneity, according to Blau, is “the extent of differentiation of the members of a collectivity into nominal groups”
- It’s a measure of a collective’s diversity.
- The greater the diversity, the greater the heterogeneity.
- The criterion by which a society’s heterogeneity is measured is the chance that two randomly chosen people belong to different groups.
