

The background of the image is a dark, textured overlay of an ancient Egyptian wall painting. The painting is divided into two horizontal registers. The upper register shows a domestic scene: on the left, a woman in a long white dress stands next to a seated man who is holding a large, curved object, possibly a bowl or a piece of pottery. To their right, a cow with black and white spots stands facing right. The lower register is filled with a row of stylized papyrus trees, each with a thick, striped trunk and a cluster of dark, round fruits at the top. The entire scene is set against a light-colored background with some hieroglyphs visible in the upper register.
