

AUTOPOIETIC SYSTEMS

- Early societies evolved from different regional societies and developed territorial differences.
- However, modern society has evolved into a functionally differentiated system.
- This includes the political system and its environment, the economic system and its environment, the educational system and its environment, and so on.

AUTOPOIETIC SYSTEMS

